Are you a carer?

If you provide unpaid support to a relative, partner or friend who is ill, frail or disabled or has mental health or substance abuse problems, you are a carer

What are the challenges faced by carers?

- Impact on own health
- Being able to manage work and caring responsibilities
- Impact on relationships
- Financial demands
- Differing challenges depending on who you are caring for

Health

- Carers often report high levels of stress and depression
- Carers may neglect their own health due to lack of time to attend appointments, etc.
- A lack of sleep on a regular basis can lead to health problems
- Back pain and other injuries due to the physical demands of caring

Employment

- Disturbed nights can lead to late arrival or lack of concentration or productivity in work
- Hospital appointments are very often Mon-Fri 9-5 and can lead to the carer having to take time off work
- First point of contact for an emergency situation. Is the carer contactable when in work?
- Liaising with health and social care professionals to arrange care and support
- Colleagues may be unaware of circumstances

Employment

Statutory Rights

- Right to request flexible working
- Time off in emergencies
- The right to parental leave

Additional Support

- Carers' Leave (paid or unpaid)

Relationships

- Caring can place a big strain on relationships
- Family and friends may lose contact leaving the carer feeling isolated and resentful

- Making time

Financial Implications

- Loss of income
- Additional transport/fuel/parking costs to attend appointments, etc.
- Aids and adaptations
- Care costs
- Higher gas and electricity bills

Carer's Assessments

Examples of help that could be available directly to the cared for

Register with your GP

- GPs can assist with referrals to Social Services and Occupational Therapy who provide a range of services
- Free flu jabs for carers

What is a Carer's Passport?

The Carer's Passport aims to help serving civil servants with onerous caring responsibilities by assessing their needs as a carer and how this may be impacting them at work, in terms of performance, attendance and efficiency.

The idea is that their responsibilities are outlined to their manager, in the form of the Carer's Passport. This document highlights special arrangements that the individual may benefit from as a result of their caring responsibilities.

- It outlines the caring responsibilities a working carer may have
- Opens up dialogue and communication
- Looks at identifying agreeable solutions between the employer and employee
- The document is transferable

How carers can be supported in the workplace

Reasonable adjustments examples:

- Annualised hours
- Compressed hours
- Shift swapping
- Staggered hours
- Temporary reduction in hours
- Able to use mobile phones during working hours
- Access to a private area for phone calls
- Unpaid carer's breaks with a right to return
- Flexible working
- Special Leave

Carer's Statement

- Provides details of the caring responsibilities and the impact this is having on the carer in order to enable the carer to access support and advice
- Avoids the need for the carer to continually repeat themselves
- Available to serving, former or retired civil servants and their informal carers

Emergency Plan

- The Carers' Emergency Plan enables individuals to consider what would happen to the person they care for, and how they would be supported, if the carer were to experience an emergency or were taken ill which means they are unable to care
- An Emergency Plan is a safe way to hold essential information about the carer, the person cared for, what their care needs are and who needs to be informed if something goes wrong
- Local carers' support organisations can provide Emergency Plans
- The Charity is developing a downloadable document for individuals to complete, but assistance could be given on request
